1832 which later became the Société homéopathique Gallicane.

It is in our capital that François Guizot, Minister of Education of Louis-Philippe, uttered these words about formalising or not the Homœopathic Society of Paris (to which the Academy of Medicine was opposed): ‘If homœopathy is a chimera, it will fall by itself.’

The hospitable city of Paris welcomes you. Centuries of cultural and political development led to the creation of a wide variety of museums, theatres, monuments and architectural styles. Many of its masterpieces such as the Louvre, Notre-Dame, the Arc de Triomphe and its internationally recognised symbol, the Eiffel Tower are iconic buildings. More than 180 museums and monuments are there for you to discover!

On behalf of the Scientific Committee, the Welcome Committee and all French colleagues, we wish you a very instructive 69th LMHI Congress and unforgettable days in Paris.

Philippe Servais
President of the 69th LMHI Congress

Welcome Address
Dear colleagues and friends,

The French Homoeopathic Medical Doctors and the members of the Organising and Scientific Committees take great pleasure in welcoming you to the 69th Liga Medicorum Homœopathica Internationalis (LMHI) Congress on 16 – 19 July 2014. This 69th edition of the LMHI Congress takes place in Paris, the City of Light and of the Enlightenment, and the last residence of our common Master, Samuel Hahnemann.

The central theme of this year’s congress is: Homœopathy on the move
Strategies and Levels of Healing

We are pleased to present a well-balanced programme. The quality of the presentations has been scrutinised by the Scientific Committee, looking at two aspects: the level of scientific evidence and the correspondence to the congress theme. Other topics will be dealt with as well, so that all can express themselves: epidemiology, basic research, provings, doctrine and philosophy, history, etc.

Colleagues coming from 48 (!) countries are participating in this congress.

Homœopathy has a long tradition in France.
When Hahnemann moved to Paris in 1835, fifty homœopaths were already working in France. Parisian consultations of Antoine Petroz and Auguste-Paul Curie had great success. A friend of the master, Sebastian Guidi founded the Société homéopathique Lyonnaise in 1832 which later became the Société homéopathique Gallicane. It is in our capital that François Guizot, Minister of Education of Louis-Philippe, uttered these words about formalising or not the Homoeopathic Society of Paris (to which the Academy of Medicine was opposed): ‘If homœopathy is a chimera, it will fall by itself.’

The hospitable city of Paris welcomes you. Centuries of cultural and political development led to the creation of a wide variety of museums, theatres, monuments and architectural styles. Many of its masterpieces such as the Louvre, Notre-Dame, the Arc de Triomphe and its internationally recognised symbol, the Eiffel Tower are iconic buildings. More than 180 museums and monuments are there for you to discover!

On behalf of the Scientific Committee, the Welcome Committee and all French colleagues, we wish you a very instructive 69th LMHI Congress and unforgettable days in Paris.

Philippe Servais
Président du 69ème Congrès de la LMHI

Guizot, ministre de l’Education de Louis-Philippe, va prononcer ces mots, à propos de l’officialisation ou non de l’homéopathie à laquelle l’Académie de Médecine était opposée : “Si l’homéopathie est une chimère, elle s’éteindra d’elle-même”.

François Morn, Paris, France

Otitis can evolve with complications: mastoiditis should be suspected when patients show severe otorrhoea, vertigo or decreased hearing. Session on micro-immunotherapy

11.00 Viral reactivation and micro-immunotherapy: A case report
Tiziana Semplici, Milan, Italy
Leve reactivation of herpes viruses has shown to influence chronic pathologies. The presence of herpes viruses, medical history and specific laboratory tests – lymphocytes and PDL1 staining of herpes viruses – before and after microimmunotherapy and viral reactivation. Discussion: Microimmunotherapy as an integrative approach for chronic pathologies.

11.20 Micro-immunotherapeutic administration of cytokines ameliorate the clinical symptoms in SAD. An animal model of multiple sclerosis
Laura Binasco, Milan, Italy
Cytokines are involved in the inflammatory cascade of multiple sclerosis. They are responsible for the development of the immune responses. Micro-immunotherapy uses cytokines, chemokines, growth factors, specific nucleic acids in different homeopathic dilutions. Documented clinical cases, fast and lasting results.

11.40 Micro-immunotherapeutic administration of cytokines ameliorate the clinical symptoms in SAD. An animal model of multiple sclerosis
Anna Camps, Barcelona, Spain
Experiments into the transcriptional profile induced by recombinant cytokines showed a differential gene expression. Microimmunotherapy reduced the number of infiltrated lymphocytes.

12.00 Multiple sclerosis
Renate Schied, Graz, Austria
Multiple sclerosis is an autoimmune disease. The genetic propensity allows the development of the immune response against the oligodendrocytes. Once autoreactive T-cells recognize an antigen, they differentiate into effector T-cells. The presence of chemokines or cytokines can enhance the development of the immune response. The treatment with cytokines and chemokines can influence the course of the illness, decrease the number of relapses, decrease of disability, decrease of inflammation, support of visual fields.

12.20 Intérêt de la micro-immunothérapie dans le domaine dentaire action sur le processus carieux des protéines BMP2 & 4
Jean-Maurice Clercq, Pouzauges, France
An experiment on 18 patients with multiple recurrent caries, despite controlled dental and host hygiene demonstrated, after 4 years follow-up, that we manage to permanently, and almost immediately, reduce the number of dental caries and caries severity after a three months treatment with RANTES. Micro-immunotherapy necessitates carefulness and cooperation between the dentist and the patient.

12.40 High RANTES in jawbone cavitations: Trigger for systemic disease and surgical and homeopathic solution
Johan Lechner, Munich, Germany
Inflammatory processes in jawbone cavitations can lead to a systemic disease. In a case report of 23 breast cancer patients, who habitually used RANTES, a systolic disease should be excluded for reasons of safety. In FDOJ contributes to propensity towards MaCa. Surgery of FDOJ needs complementary therapy with micro-immunotherapy for the treatment of RANTES.

14.00 Using hetero-isotherapics in cancer supportive care: The fruit of fifteen years of experience
Jean-Lionel Bagot, Strasbourg, France

Well tolerated and easy to use, hetero-isotherapics of chemotherapy, targeted therapy or hormone therapy were shown to improve the quality of life. I observed a significant decrease in side effects, allergic risk and late sequelae in the more than 6000 hetero-isotherapics patients treated so far with no serious toxicity.

16.00 Contributions of homeopathy in modern oncology: Discussions of clinical case studies
Alok Pareek, Agra, India

Based on the clinical studies conducted at Pareek Hospital Agra where more than 11000 treatments given to some 4,000 patients. We describe the case of a 7-month-old girl, and disappear with the remedy at higher and higher potency. Synthesis of this remedy confirms the first prescription. We shall see that symptoms of the remedy will be found, from time to time in the life of this little girl, and disappear with the remedy at higher and higher potency.

17.00 Homeopathy consultation in pediatric oncology: 5-year Experience at a University Hospital
Klaus von Ammon, Bern, Switzerland

As in the Swiss population in general, homeopathy emerged amongst the most required complementary therapies in children treated for cancer. Individual homeopathy complementing conventional treatment was found to be more effective for the improvement of symptoms reliably by a group of pediatricians who have a diagnostic diagnosis of cancer.

18.00 Homeopathic approach (integrated) in respiratory and allergic diseases:
Rosaria Ferreri, Pitigliano, Italy

Emergencies are life threatening, resulting in mortality outcome. Modern experts and conventional therapists do not seem to be interested in integrating homoeopathy!!!’ It shows their inadequate knowledge about homoeopathy. Homoeopath in a normal hospital fills in the gap. We describe the case of a female patient born in 1950, with severe pathologies: erythema nodosum, hypertension, obesity, asthma, allergies. The experience in the centre of integrated medicine - hospital of Pitigliano confirmed the first prescription.

19.00 Homeopathic consultations in pediatric oncology: 5-year Experience at a University Hospital

He is greeds very much, very fast building. The consultation is the opportunity to visit again the understanding of ELAPS by Doctor MASI.

16.30 The patient is the master: How symptoms and language of each patient are the guide to the cure - Reflections about 30 years of experience
Anna Pia, Bolzano, Spain

When we are unprejudiced observers, the patient gives us the criteria: of cure, for the strategy, of the value of each symptom. Dreams, ways of administration of the remedy. How to deal with the obstacles for the cure.

17.30 L’homéopathie au quotidien, parfois ultime recours
Jean Pierre Jansen, Groningen, The Netherlands

‘Feed the cow (homeopathy) that feeds us: be donors, not only receivers’ (Dr. J. Imberechts).

18.00 Remedies finding by constitution, intuition and guiding symptoms
Leopold Drexler, Feldkirch, Austria

According to Dr. Boinieau’s findings: ‘Constitution allows all genetic and acquired elements of the patient. We find the same constitutional elements in our remedies. The key to the patient remedy is the similarity or otherwise, in selecting the remedies by comparing these rather with guiding symptoms that are similar to the patient’s.’

15.00 Curación y falsa curación

Antonio Sánchez Caballero, Mexico City, Mexico

The use of LM or Q potency is exposed, even on the final aggravation of symptoms, and their sequence. This is supported by short videos of patients. They relate their experience by their personal beliefs and prejudices that are able to induce him to make mistakes. Miasmas can be cured, avoiding suppressions and making false or apparent healing, because of taking the whole person as his present. Homoeopathy is a transcendental medicine.

17.00 “Dass ich erkenne, was die Welt im Innersten zusammenhält” Johann Wolfgang Goethe - So that I may perceive whatever holds the world together in its inmost folds - Strategy for better understanding of synthetic and miasmatic prescription

Eduardo Angele Yañez, Buenos Aires, Argentina

This statement of Faust in the so-called tragedy written by Johann Wolfgang Goethe shall be applied to the research on homœopathic remedies. What is necessary to understand the essence of a remedy? On behalf of the experience of our research group we found it essential to comprehend the complex relations of the patient’s disease with his whole body. This understanding can be improved by combining the knowledge of both classical and constitutional derangement as described by R. Moity.

18.00 La importancia de la aplicación de la homeopatía en la clínica. Caso agudo Francisco de Asís Moya, Seville, Spain

The homeopath must be aware of the possibility of the medicine’s action in each individual case. He shall act according to the patient’s individuality that changes the medicine that he needs. In each individual case the selection is not an arbitrary choice but a methodical construction. In that way, the individual medicine is selected for each individual case. This choice is based on the symptoms that evolve in the course of the disease.

14.30 Experimentation homéopathique des cytokines, facteurs de croissance cellulaires et nerveux dans le traitement des maladies chroniques auto-immunes

Jérôme-Louis Robert Matéza, Lecce, Italie

New homoeopathically cytokine mediated effects provided in vitro. These effects help to check the balance of human immune system in several cases of clinical research. The paper of Medico Homeopathic Cytokines could assure new homoeopathic solutions to traditional disease of homeopathy and increased efficiency in the context of chronic autoimmune diseases.

15.00 Is it possible to recognize a therapy strategy by analyzing the potencies prescribed?

Vincenzo Rosco, Aida Alma Rodriguez, Napoli, Italy

To know if we can recognize a Homeopathic medical strategy - intention to treat – just by looking at the administered potency(ies), we looked at 10,000 prescriptions at LUIMO. The results show that physicians have the tendency to administrate potencies in increasing order from 6C to 30C. This tendency can be analyzed in context of research and published literature. To know if we can recognize a therapy strategy just by analyzing the potencies in particular cases, we need to evaluate the potencies with the context of each prescription. These results could be used as a starting point to define criteria for the recognition of therapy strategies in the context of homeopathic therapy.

15.30 Homeopathic medicine, ‘autonomous’ method: Requirements for its application

Carlo Melodia, Napoli, Italy

Reinventing the steps of the method of S. N色彩ier concerning the primary treating of the homeopathic patient: a critical insight of a widespread methodology employed in medicine, both regarding the pharmacist and the medicine itself to treat the disease.

16.00 The multiplicity of healing levels in children

Viviana Rasulo, Napoli, Italy

Healing - as a continuous dynamic balance - starts at conception, with the homeopathic remedy, and continues along the developmental stages. Acute disease is characterized by symptoms that occur suddenly, with a fast progression and a short-lasting level. The method can give every remedy a hitherto unknown clinical indication.

17.00 A clinical case of Kawasaki disease

Francesco Siccardi, Napoli, Italy

Kawasaki syndrome is a severe disease. A child diagnosed for Kawasaki syndrome at the time of the initial rash and fever, treated and cured with homeopathy. When the single remedy is chosen according to the symptom picture, respecting the patient, as Hahnemann has taught, homeopathy offers a valid therapeutic option in such a disease.

17.30 A clinical case of Hashimoto autoimmune thyroiditis

Elvira Erman, Adel Alma Rodriguez, Napoli, Italy

The method adopted to homoeopathic medicine focuses on the symptom analysis of the patient. The patient is treated as a whole, the treatment is based on the patient’s symptoms and the effectiveness of the treatment is the improvement experienced by the patient, but also in relation to the patient’s sensitivity to the remedy. This method offers a new remembret in homoeopathic therapy.

18.00 Symptoms and modalities, clearly specified by the patient allow the pharmacist to intervene in acute with simillimum, confirming the effectiveness of the homoeopathic method

Virginia Panzini, Napoli, Italy

Acute disease is characterized by symptoms that occur suddenly, with a fast progression and a short final level. The method, preserving itself with precision and reliability, allows the identification of the characteristic and essential remedy picture. Identifying those condiions permit the pharmacist to adjust the patient to a level homoeopathic in relation to his condition.

18.30 A dedicated web site to report provings for homoeopathic medical education

Vincenzo Rosco, Aida Alma Rodriguez, Napoli, Italy

LMHI has realized a web site where experimentalists and doctors can share their provings and their work. The site can evolve into a tool for experimenter and the dialog with his assistant in “real time”. This permits to standardize a fast collection and analysis of unlimited quantities of proving data. Photons are detected by magnetic resonance in homeopathic remedies. The potencies’ levels of remedies are measured by two methods: 1) the characteristic magnetic resonance field (2) and 2) by number of photons emitted, each increasing from 10 to high piones. Through photon detection, we can visualize the resonance phenomena of the potencies and their healing frequencies and spectra.

Delhi, though becoming a hub of medical tourism, is finding it hard to provide a reasonably affordable and less suffering treatment for the kidney stones.

Ritu Raj Agarwala, Burdwan, India

"Homeopathy offers the most cost effective and less suffering treatment for the kidney stones.
Berb. V, Lycopodium clavatum, Sarsapirilla, Sulphur, etc. are effective medicines at high dilution for kidney stone including secondary infection to urinary tract."

Parul Aggarwal, Delhi, India

A study where in all patients (pathological diagnosis) of GSD were treated with homeopathic medicines, it was found that the survival rate of patients treated with homeopathy was far better than the survival rate of patients treated with conventional medicine. A remarkable result of 54% with significant survival proved the effectiveness of Similimum. Hence, homeopathy is an alternative treatment for stage-4 end stage renal disease.
